Dulles Says Unless Congress Accepts Ike Mid-East Program, Fight Likely

Claims Standby Authority Safer Path to Follow

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary Dulles said today that if Congress turns down President Eisenhower's Middle East program events may get out of hand with "a very great likelihood" American boys may have to fight there.

He argued the chances of actual involvement of U. S. troops would be diminished if Eisenhower were given standby authority to use them in event of Soviet aggression.

Dulles was asked by Sen. Langer (R-ND) what were the possibilities of American boys having to fight in the Middle East.

"If the resolution passes, there is very little likelihood," Dulles replied. "If it doesn't pass there is a very great likelihood."

For the second day, members of the Senate Foreign Relations and Armed Services Committees were questioning Dulles about the Eisenhower program which calls for financial aid to nations of the Middle East, and standby authority to use U. S. troops to combat any direct Soviet aggression in that part of the world.

There were plans at one time to wind up the questioning of Dulles today. But after protests by Sen. Morse (D-Ore) against any "pressure to shorten questioning," Sen. Green (D-RI) who heads up the joint group, said Dulles would be called for further questioning after next week's inauguration ceremonies.

Speaking in a hoarse voice, Morse told the public hearing: "I'm so frightened about the matter I'm almost speechless as my voice shows."

Several Democratic senators have said they want to ask Dulles to give some proof for a statement he made yesterday—that the Communist threat to the Middle East is the most dangerous situation "we have faced over the past 10 years."

President Eisenhower is asking standby authority to use U. S. forces if any free nation of the Middle East seeks such aid to combat open Communist aggression there. He also has asked for special military and economic aid.

Senate Majority Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas told Dulles he spoke in "generalities" yesterday. Dulles promised more details at closed sessions, saying some information was guarded "for security reasons."

Most Republican members of the committee refrained from comment, although Senate Republican Leader Knowland of California called Dulles' testimony "helpful."

"He certainly clarified a number of questions which members of both committees have," Knowland said, adding that he expects further clarification as Dulles' testimony continues.

Sen. Jackson (D-Wash) told interviewers: "I'm mainly interested in whether the program can be implemented with the military forces we now have. But, so far, we have not received any evidence of any new threat. In fact, I don't believe the threat is as great as it was a while back."

Through daylong questioning yesterday, Dulles stuck by his contention that Communist leaders "will take every risk that they dare to take in order to win the Middle East."

And he hammered away at what he said is a need for the utmost speed in granting the administration the special powers it asks to cope with the Red threat.

He said, "Every day's delay means the Soviet Union is getting that much deeper in the area."

Predicts Wet Spell in '60s For Plains

Meteorologist Says Conclusions Based On Sunspot Cycle

WASHINGTON (AP)—A meteorologist predicted today that the Great Plains area now parched by drought will have "comparatively wet" weather in the 1960s.

Dr. Hurd C. Willett, meteorologist at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, said he thinks the worst of the drought is past. Willett expressed these views in a copyrighted interview in the Magazine U. S. News & World Report.

He said he bases his conclusions on the cycle of sunspots—disturbances "in the sun's atmosphere." Willett said these have an effect on the earth's atmosphere, changing wind patterns.

President Eisenhower winds up a two-day tour of the drought area today. The government has launched several drought aid programs in the area.

Willett said: "If the weather repeats as in the past, we can expect that the 1960s will be a comparatively wet period in the areas now plagued with dry weather."

Landowners in the area, he said, "would be ill-advised to give up at this point because they have probably passed most of the worst and can expect quite a few years of better conditions."

He said every 10 or 15 years there is a high number of sunspots. At present, he said, "we are almost at the peak of the double sunspot cycle, which is reached every 20 to 22 years and which seems to have an even more pronounced effect on the earth's atmosphere." He added:

"We're having now, in 1957, what we had in 1937, in 1917, and in 1895. Each of those previous years marked the beginning of the end of the most severe part of a drought stage."

Willett predicts the next serious drought will come "around 1975 to 1980, and I expect that it will be in a belt along the southern fringe of the country."

Effect On Cattle—

Ike Hears Report of Worst Drought in Over 30 Years

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — President Eisenhower was told today that Arizona's drought stricken ranges are in the worst condition in more than 30 years.

Before taking off for the final round of drought inspection, he heard that cattle, a backbone of the state's economy, were the poorest since the Crop and Livestock Reporting Service began making estimates in 1922.

Dr. Harold Myers, dean of the College of Agriculture at the University of Arizona, said: "The drought effect will last far beyond the coming calf crop. Crop. Breeding cow numbers will have to be rebuilt. This repair job will take several years."

Some Ranchers already have spent almost as much on feed as the value of their cows, Myers said.

The President may disclose today what the federal government proposes to do about easing the worsening plight of farmers and ranchers.

Aides said the President might talk about some of his plans at a conference scheduled late in the day at Wichita, Kan. He will meet at McConnell Air Force Base there with representatives of all states confronted with drought damage problems.

In advance of that session Eisenhower's program calls for on-the-spot study of the situation here in Arizona and in the regions around Pueblo, Colo., and Garden City, Kan.

The President arranged an early breakfast meeting at Tucson's Davis - Monahan Air Base, where he spent the night, for a report on what Arizona folks would like in the way of federal relief measures. Then he was going on to Colorado and Kansas.

Eisenhower arrived in Tucson by plane late yesterday after 10 hours of aerial and ground inspection of drought conditions in three other southwestern states—Texas, Oklahoma and New Mexico. He saw mile after mile of sun-baked land, some badly damaged by wind erosion, and he got from several ranchers and farmers first-hand accounts of their difficulties.

And, in Tucson, newsmen accompanying the President were handed a summary study by a University of Arizona scientist, Dr. Edmund Schulman, saying analysis of growth rings of trees shows the state has experienced its driest spell in 700 years.

Raymond Seltzer, agricultural economist at the same university, said that last year at this time there were 75,000 acre feet of water stored at Coolidge Dam serving Arizona's Pinal County cotton lands.

"This year," Seltzer added, "there is no water except for a puddle which is too low to pump."

Farm Leaders Favor Return Of Base Crop

CHICAGO (AP) — Presidents of eight Midwest Farm Bureau Federation state organizations have gone on record in favor of restoring the so-called base acreage plan.

The FBF leaders voiced opposition yesterday to the current corn acreage allotment plan, saying that its further continuance would jeopardize substantial participation in the 1957 soil bank program.

The federation waged a campaign against the acreage allotment plan in a recent corn farmers' referendum.

The federation presidents from Illinois, Iowa, Minnesota, Kansas, Wisconsin, Ohio, Indiana and Missouri met in Chicago at the invitation of Charles B. Shuman of Sullivan, Ill., president of the American Farm Bureau Federation.

Under the acreage allotment plan, participating farmers would be granted support loans at 77 per cent of parity. However, over-all planting would be limited to 38,388,000 acres, as compared with the 1956 acreage of 43,380,534.

The base acreage plan provides for support at about 74 per cent of parity, but sets the acreage limit at 51 million acres for planting under the soil bank program. The convening FBF leaders said cheap corn and lower livestock prices would result from what they termed the low rate of compliance in prospect for the allotment program. They claimed the allotment program has failed to meet the challenge of diverted acreage program.

Israeli Challenges UN Report—

Israeli Troops Leave El 'Arish, UN Emergency Troops Move In

JERUSALEM, Israeli Section (AP)—Israeli troops withdrew today from El 'Arish, the administrative center of Egypt's Sinai Peninsula. Yugoslav units of the U.N. Emergency Force moved in a few minutes later.

There was no direct contact between the Israelis and the Yugoslavs.

Egyptian spokesmen have said President Nasser's troops would enter the base, 30 miles southwest of the old Palestine border, tomorrow.

After their withdrawal, Israeli forces still occupied about a fourth of the Sinai Peninsula which they won in their lightning attack last October.

Israel has challenged a U.N. report estimating at least 452 Arabs were killed in the invasion and occupation of the Gaza Strip of Palestine northeast of El 'Arish.

The report was made to the U.N. General Assembly in New York by Henry R. Labouisse, director of the U.N. Relief and Works Agency for Palestine refugees. It said 291 of the victims were refugees of the 1948 Palestine War and the others were Arab residents of the strip.

An Israeli spokesman at U.N. headquarters declared the casualty figures were obtained from sources of questionable accuracy.

An Israeli Foreign Ministry spokesman claimed the dead "were largely personnel of the Palestine units attached to the regular Egyptian army who took an active part in the fighting in the 'national guard' units and as fedayeen (commandos)."

He also declared that many Arabs listed as casualties may have fled the Gaza area and now may be alive in Jordan and elsewhere.

Labouisse said the casualty figures drew on eyewitness accounts from refugees, the UNRWA staff and others.

The report also said hospitals in the strip virtually were paral-

Violinist to Ignore Invitation to Play Concert in Hungary

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Famed violinist Joseph Szigeti says that he is going to ignore an invitation to give concerts in Communist Hungary.

"It's incredible to think that they are giving concerts while they are killing people in the streets," said Szigeti, a native of Hungary but now a naturalized citizen. He left there in 1941.

He said his Italian manager had relayed an invitation to go to Budapest for concerts.

Three Youths Hurt in Two 1-Car Mishaps

Auto Hits Bridge Sunday, Another Overturns Monday

One Sedalia youth was seriously injured and another painfully hurt in two separate one-car auto accidents Sunday night and late Monday morning. A third youth was only slightly hurt.

Robert Bruders, 16, of 2431 West Second, suffered a compound fracture of the left leg when the car which he was driving struck a bridge abutment at the Smetzer Creek bridge north of Georgetown about 11:30 a. m. Monday. He is in serious condition at Bothwell Hospital.

Two companions riding with him, Dennis Ray Davis, 18, 518 East 12th, who suffered minor abrasions and contusions, and Hartley Goodpasture, 18, 812 East 18th, who was unhurt, were taken to the hospital with Bruders in a Ewing ambulance.

According to Sgt. E. W. Van Winkle, of the State Highway Patrol, Bruders was driving east in a 1957 Oldsmobile coach and apparently lost control of the vehicle when it began skidding and struck the west end of the bridge on the south side.

The car ripped through the metal guard rails of the abutment and came to rest with the front of the auto on the ground below the bridge with the left rear wheel still clinging to the abutment. One of the metal rails pierced the left front door of the car and thrust into the left hip of Bruders.

Several farmers arrived at the scene and called for metal cutting equipment to sever the railing and free Bruders. After the left front door of the car was cut off and the railing cut in two, Dr. Karl B. Gosner, who was called from Sedalia, then freed Bruders from the railing.

Dr. Gosner later gave emergency treatment to Bruders at the hospital.

The car, a demonstrator owned by the Routsong Motor Co., was demolished. It was towed to Routsong's by a Howerton wrecker.

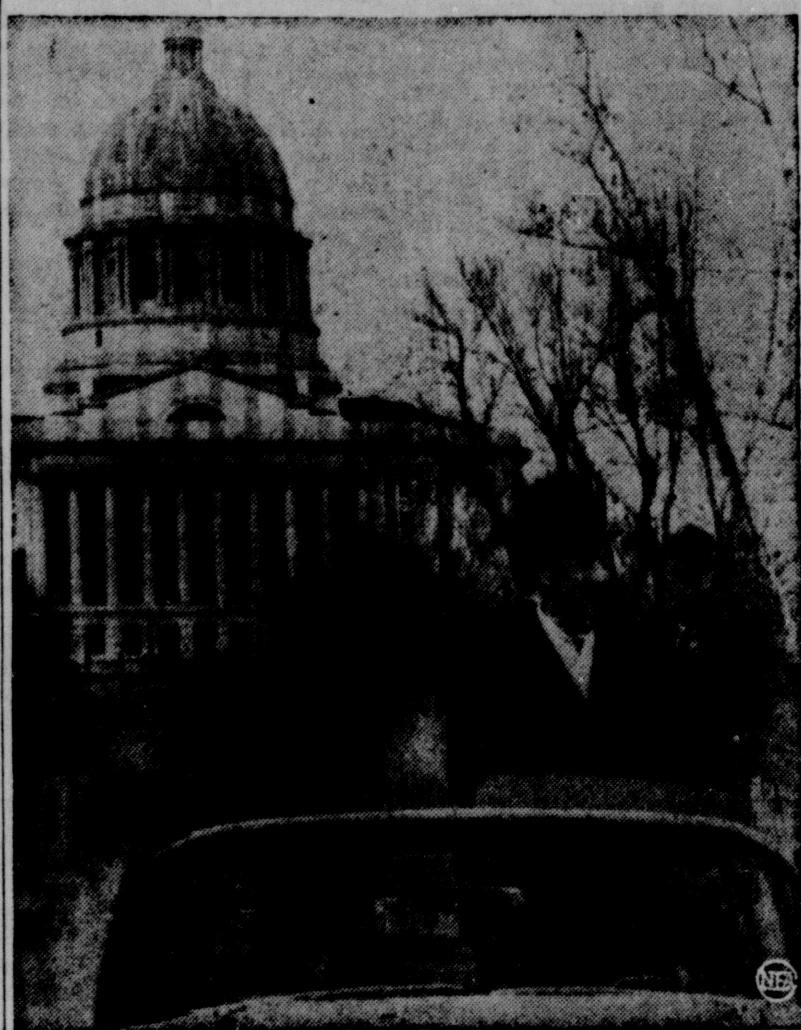

In the Sunday night accident, Charles Davis Jackson, 18, Negro, 309 West Johnson, suffered a painful back injury when the car in which he was riding failed to make a curve and overturned about seven miles north of Sedalia on U. S. Highway 65 about 9:45 p.m.

Jackson and five others from Sedalia, who were riding with him, were all thrown from the car. Jackson was the only one injured.

The accident occurred as John Russell Molden, 28, Negro, 213 West Clay, was driving north on the highway in a 1951 Buick hardtop. He was attempting to negotiate a curve but left the road at the peak of the curve, returned to the pavement and skidded off the opposite shoulder, striking an embankment and overturning several times.

Other occupants of the car were: (Please turn to Page 2, Col. 3)

Blair Will Not Use His Office To 'Heckle' the Legislature

RIDES IN INAUGURATION IN COLD—Although the temperature was near zero, Governor-elect James T. Blair, Jr., stands in an open car during the parade in connection with his inauguration outside the Capitol, background, in Jefferson City, Mo. Seated, beside Blair, is former Gov. Phil Donnelly.

Governor and First Lady Lead Grand March at Ball

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — Gov. Sr. of Jefferson City. She is the mother of the new governor and was the untiring special guest at all of yesterday's inaugural festivities.

Billy is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Chapman Turner. Mrs. Turner is a sister of the new governor.

Even the huge rotunda and wide corridors of the capitol couldn't hold all the guests. So the governor and his wife, with other state officials and dignitaries, left the main ball to open another at the Hotel Governor, two blocks away.

Hundreds of visitors followed the crowd and long before midnight the dancing floor in the capitol was only lightly sprinkled with whirling figures.

Missouri House Hears Seven Bills Put Up in 30 Minutes

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — The Missouri House of Representatives met for 30 minutes this morning, tossed in seven bills, and adjourned until noon.

A bill introduced by Rep. A. Clifford Jones (R) of St. Louis County would require the director of mental diseases to be a licensed psychiatrist or medical doctor with experience in hospital administration. The director, at a salary of $15,000, would supervise business management as well as actual treatment of the institutions.

Now the director of the division is required to have no special qualifications to hold the job paying $7,500 a year. That situation has been widely criticized in recent years.

An emergency clause would make the bill effective immediately upon signing by the governor.

Other bills introduced in the brief session would:

Let a person whose property has been maliciously or wilfully damaged by the child of another collect damages up to $500.

Raise the old age assistance maximum from $60 to $70 a month.

Increase the pay of equalization board agents from $4,200 to $5,600.

Blair Will Commute Death Sentence of Riot Killer

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — Gov. James T. Blair Jr. announced today he will commute the death sentence of Rolfe M. Laster, prison riot killer, to life imprisonment.

He said Laster was "no more guilty than the others." Six other riot killers of Walter Lee Donnell were sentenced to life terms.

Laster has been sentenced to die in the gas chamber early Friday morning. Blair, in one of his first official acts since becoming Missouri's 45th governor yesterday, said he would sign the commutation before then.

He said his decision was made "for the sake of justice. It's not a matter of clemency or leniency."

"All these men were tried on the same evidence," Blair said, "and the same punishment should be meted out to all."

The governor noted that his brother, Circuit Judge Sam C. Blair, who sentenced Laster in late January, 1955, agreed with him that the same penalty should be given all of the riot slayers.

They were convicted of beating and stabbing Donnell to death at the height of a disastrous prison riot Sept. 22, 1954.

Donnell had been put in a death row cell at his own request to protect him from other convicts who considered him a "squealer."

Blair said that if all the killers had received the death sentence, "I doubt that I would have interfered." But under the circumstances he thought the sentences should be equalized.

Laster was the first of the seven convicts to be tried and one of only two tried in Cole County. The rest took changes of venue to other parts of the state.

Holds His First News Conference After Inaugural

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — Gov. James T. Blair Jr. announced today he would not use his high office to "heckle the Legislature."

Blair said that if he has anything to say to the legislators, he'll say it in person in a special message. He said he would not try to influence legislation by issuing statements about pending bills.

"It is not the function of the governor to heckle the Legislature," he said.

The new governor made his comments at his first news conference since being sworn in yesterday. He said he was tired after the strenuous activities of inauguration day but that did not keep him from covering a wide range of subjects in the give and take of the questioning.

The new governor also:

Sent to the Senate the formal appointment of Milton Carpenter, former St. Louis comptroller, as state revenue director succeeding M. E. Morris, the new state treasurer.

Sent up two other appointments, both announced previously — Col. Hugh H. Waggoner as superintendent of the Highway Patrol and Mrs. Sallie Hailey as director of the State Department of Business and Administration.

Said he would recommend that the Legislature set up a state parking facility near the Capitol.

Said he would appoint an acting commissioner of agriculture later today to succeed L. C. Carpenter, who resigned last week. Carpenter ran against Blair for the Democratic nomination for governor but withdrew before the primary.

Agreed to have two news conferences a day, at 9 a.m. and 4 p.m., at least for the time being. Later, he said, the number of conferences may have to be cut.

Announced his office staff appointments.

Jack Stapleton Sr., Stanberry newspaper publisher, will be his administrative assistant. The front office receptionist is Mrs. Maxwell Casey.

Secretaries in the office are Mrs. Louis S. Davis and Mrs. Helene W. Stewart, both of whom worked for former Gov. Phil M. Donnelly, and two others who have worked in Blair's office, Mrs. Charlotte Amick and Mrs. Lawrence Haake Jr.

The new governor also indicated he probably would veto fewer bills than his predecessor, who set a record for vetoes.

Blair said he thought it was not the governor's job to veto a bill just because he might not agree with the principle of it.

If a bill is legally passed and does not conflict with any of the fundamentals of good government, Blair indicated he would go along with the Legislature's judgment and sign it.

Asked if he planned to recommend a state parking lot, as Donnelly did, Blair agreed that something ought to be done about the daily jam around the Capitol.

The problem, he said, will be to find the million dollars it would take to build a state operated parking garage or lot.

"I don't know what the best plan is," he said, "but it ought to be as reasonably priced as possible."

State owned land just east of the capitol has been suggested as a possible parking site. Blair said the old state power plant west of the Capitol, which is not used now to generate electricity also might provide a site.

Blair said he was less concerned about the parking troubles of Jefferson City residents than about taking care of the many outstate visitors who come to the capital city.

Sedalia Colonels Take Part in Blair Inaugural Activities

Seven honorary colonels on Gov. James T. Blair Jr., staff from Sedalia participated in the activities of the inauguration, activities on Sunday and Monday.

The colonels who attended with their wives were W. C. Askew, John J. McGrath, Judge Frank T. Armstrong, Frank W. Hayes, William F. Brown, and D. Kelly Scruton. Mayor Julian H. Bagby was unable to attend due to a meeting of the Beatrice Creamery Co., in Chicago on that day.

The Sedalians returned home Tuesday morning.

Asks Enlarged Disarmament Plan by Ike

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn.) urged the Eisenhower administration today to expand its new disarmament proposals to include a negotiated withdrawal of both American and Soviet troops from Germany.

Humphrey, a member of the American delegation to the United Nations, voiced approval of a five-point disarmament program presented to the U.N. yesterday by the chief U.S. delegate, Henry Cabot Lodge Jr.

But the Minnesota senator said in an interview he regrets the proposals do not indicate some flexibility relating to Central Europe and Germany.

"I think we should restudy our position in Western Germany with the objective of withdrawing our troops if the Soviets will agree to pull back their troops from East Germany and Poland," Humphrey said.

"We are going to have to face up to the possibility that a German government—not necessarily the present one headed by Chancellor Adenauer—may proceed on its own initiative to try to negotiate for unification with East Germany.

"In such a situation we could find ourselves in the position of being asked to get out of West Germany. It would be much better if we now could begin to weigh the assets and liabilities of a phased withdrawal of American and Soviet forces from the area."

In its five-point program, the administration proposed, among other things, that the armed forces of the United States and Soviet Russia be limited to 2½ million men each and those of Britain and France to 750,000 each, subject to a workable inspection system.

Senator Joins Protest Of Ban on Newsman At Inaugural Oath

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Neuberger (D-Ore) has described as "a highly dangerous precedent" the White House plan to bar newsmen when President Eisenhower takes his second-term inaugural oath Sunday.

A public ceremony will be held in front of the Capitol the following day.

Neuberger yesterday joined capital newsmen in protesting the decision, saying the presidency "is the living, breathing fountainhead of government for a vast and vital democratic nation." He added:

"It is threatened in status when the actual oath-taking is held in virtual secret, without covering by the press, while the ceremonial duplication receives an immense buildup."

Senate Gets Bills on Sale Of Narcotics

JEFFERSON CITY (AP)—Bills to authorize the death penalty for illegal sale of narcotics and to set up a federal-state medical care program for welfare clients hit the Missouri Senate today.

The bill to stiffen narcotics law penalties was introduced by Sen. George A. Spencer (D) of Columbia. He said it was aimed especially at sale of drugs to minors.

Illegal sales to minors would be punishable by prison terms of 10 years to life and a fine up to $10,000. A death sentence could be imposed only if a jury directed it. Illegal sales to adults on the first offense would draw a prison term of five to 10 years and a fine up to $3,000. For the second offense it would be 10-30 years and up to $5,000.

A third or later offense could draw a $10,000 fine and a life term, or a death sentence if a jury directed it.

Penalties now range up to seven years and $5,000.

The medical care bill was offered by Sen. Albert M. Spradling (D) of Cape Girardeau. On a 50-50 matching basis, the state could get up to $7 million in federal money if the Legislature appropriated an equal amount of state funds.

The money would be used to provide medical care or hospitalization for those receiving old age assistance, aid to dependent children, blind pensions, payments for total disability or general relief.

Another bill affecting the old age assistance program was introduced by Sen. John P. Barrett (D) of St. Louis.

It would raise maximum monthly grants from $60 to $70 and permit a recipient to own property worth $7,000, instead of the present $5,000 limit.

Proctor N. Carter, state welfare director, estimated a $10 a month increase would cost the state $31 million for the first two years.

Hooked onto the increase is a plan for lien and recovery system which would let the state get its welfare money back from the estates of deceased clients. Such a plan often has been recommended but never has won its way through the Legislature.

Advance the date of the Missouri primary election from August to the second Tuesday in June.

Set up stiffer standards for nursing and convalescent homes and give the State Health Division power to inspect and regulate them—a companion measure to an earlier bill for transfer of senile patients from state hospitals to nursing homes.

Raise the salary of the judge of the Cape Girardeau Court of Common Pleas from $8,000 to $11,500 to put him on the same basis as other circuit judges.

Sen. Floyd R. Gibson (D) of Independence, president pro tem appointed three Republicans and a Democrat to represent the Senate at the inauguration of President Eisenhower next Monday. A similar committee was appointed by House Speaker Roy Hamlin (D) of Marion County earlier.

The senators who get a trip to Washington at state expense are: Edgar J. Keating (D) of Kansas City, Charles A. Witte (R) of Kirkswood, Vincent E. Baker (R) of Kansas City and James P. Kelly (R) of Trenton.

Uranium Topic Of Scientist At Dinner Meet

Uranium, the modern world's most important element, will be the subject to be discussed by one of the nation's original uranium prospector's and research scientists, at the next meeting of the Knife and Ford Club.

Luther Gable is the prospector-scientist speaker who will lead the discussion during which the possibilities of uranium and its associated products will be unfolded. Gable is a member of the faculty of the American Television Institute of Technology.

The affair will be held in Bothwell Hotel on Thursday at 6:30 p.m. It is expected a large group of the local members and their out-of-town guests will be on hand to hear Gable.

In his lecture, Gable gives a thrilling demonstration calculated to keep the members of his audience on the edge of their chairs. He explains uranium and nuclear fission in a manner which the average, intelligent layman can understand.

In addition to his teaching and prospecting, Gable is well known as an adventurer, author, and speaker.

Police Admit Being Foiled In Kidnaping

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The Marie McDonald case has the chief of police asking rhetorical questions. Chief William H. Parker said yesterday that 10 days' investigation of Miss McDonald's story of being kidnaped from her Encino home has produced "absolutely negative results."

And, he added—rhetorically—"Where do we go from here?" Like most such questions, it was unanswered. Ray Pinker, chief of the police crime laboratory, could not help, said Parker.

"No footprints were found near the bedroom window through which Marie said her kidnappers accosted her," Parker said. Although she told of scratching her abductors, scrapings from under her fingernails showed no trace of skin or blood, he said.

He said that an exhaustive examination of the McDonald home by Pinker disclosed no physical evidence at the scene. The chief added:

"We have checked out every bit of information in the case and have failed to find any evidence whatever which would substantiate or disprove Miss McDonald's story."

The blonde actress yesterday posted a $5,000 reward for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the men she said abducted her from her home Jan. 3.

When Parker suggested that he might take Miss McDonald up on her previous offer of a lie detector test, her attorney Jerry Giesler replied that it was out of the question. Said Giesler:

Carl Meyer Is President Of GOP Club

Carl Meyer was unanimously elected president of the Pettis County Republican Club at a special session held Monday night at the Pacific Dining Room. In the absence of the club president, Paul Hausam, who due to conflicting interests resigned, Ed Kehde, senior past president, conducted the meeting. Meyer will fill the unexpired term of the president.

The club voted to resume the traditional McKinley banquets with a banquet Jan. 26. Mrs. J. F. Schumacher was appointed general chairman with Mrs. Ed Kehde and Mrs. Fred G. Rose, co-chairmen of the ticket committee. Mrs. Kehde will release the names of the committee members later.

Mrs. Rose announced the Lincoln Day festivities would be held Friday and Saturday, Feb. 8 and 9, in Kansas City. The program schedule calling for the traditional Republican Editorial dinner on Friday evening; the President's Breakfast, Saturday morning. Senator James Kelly, Trenton, will entertain District Chairmen. Mrs. Schumacher is the district chairman from the 11th Congressional District and will be a guest. At 10 a.m. the congressional district will hold their annual election of chairmen. The State Federation of Republican Women will hold their annual luncheon at 12:30. The climax of the festivities will be the banquet Saturday evening at which time a nationally-known speaker will be heard.

Mrs. Rose also announced the "Official Inaugural Souvenir Program" which will be used at the inauguration of President Eisenhower and Vice-President Nixon on Jan. 21, are now available. Mrs. Rose quoted from a communication, "This publication will be in keeping with the dignity and historical interests of the inaugural events. The noted American artist, Norman Rockwell, has created a beautiful cover sketch of the president and vice-president, printed in color on the finest paper available." Photos and biographical sketches are included as well as historical background information on past inaugurations. These programs are available at $1.10 and may be obtained by calling Mrs. Fred G. Rose.

After a general discussion of other business of interest to the club and party the meeting adjourned with advisory comments by the Rev. George Ray.

Novelist to Enter Seminary for Rest After Sight Return

DALLAS (AP)—Novelist John Howard Griffin, whose sight suddenly returned last week after he had been blind 10 years, has entered Mount Carmel Seminary here for a rest, he told friends yesterday.

Griffin, 36, said he decided to enter the seminary when his doctors told him to follow his amazing recovery of his vision with a period of quiet and total withdrawal from his usual activities.

He said his experience had plunged him into a state of deep shock. He is wearing "cylinder" corrective glasses to help his long unused eye muscles regain coordination. He went blind in 1946 after a World War II injury.

Generals Inspect 400 Unit Housing Project at Whiteman

Maj. Gen. Gerald E. Galloway, division engineer of the Missouri River Division Corps of Engineers at Omaha, Neb., and Brig. Gen. Edward A. Brown, Jr., assistant chief of Military Construction Engineers, Washington, D. C., visited Whiteman Air Force Base, Friday morning to inspect Whiteman's 400 unit Base Housing Project now under construction.

The visiting generals were met by Col. A. J. Beck, 340th Bomb Wing Commander, and Clifford A. Philo, resident engineer of the Corps at Whiteman, and immediately escorted to Whiteman's Housing area.

In addition to touring the area, the general officers inspected the inside and outside of each different type unit under construction. Of the 400 units in the project, 100 are for officers and 300 for airmen.

The visitors had previously attended a meeting at Ft. Leonard Wood, in connection with a proposed Capehart Housing Project there.

Temperatures in the area were generally 10 to 20 degrees lower than yesterday morning. But the coldest spots were in northern New England and New York state, with readings expected to range from 20 to 40 degrees below zero.

Temperatures remained below freezing all day yesterday over most of the northern two-thirds of the vast cold belt and were below zero from northern Michigan to northern New England.

New York City had the coldest weather in nearly two years this morning. The 3 above was the lowest mark since zero Feb. 3, 1955, and a record low for Jan. 15. The previous low was 6.3 Jan. 15, 1927.

The frigid air in the Eastern area was expected to bring the coldest weather of the season as far south as Georgia and northern sections of the Gulf Coast states.

Some slight warming was reported in the north and central plains eastward into the Mississippi Valley and upper Great Lakes region but it was not very warm. Temperatures ranged from below zero in the extreme north to 20s in Kansas and Missouri. Subzero marks were reported in most of the Midwest yesterday morning.

The immediate outlook in the Midwest was a fresh invasion of cold air and snow.

The Northeast also appeared in line for more snow, with falls forecast westward to the Mississippi Valley. Snow also was anticipated for much of the Mid-Atlantic area and the belt may extend into New England.

The Job Isn't Licked Yet...

The annual drive in a relentless battle against the crippling disease polio is underway again this month.

Men, women and children are organizing as never before to stage the January March of Dimes. Children will sell peanuts, mothers will visit homes, fathers will help direct activities and dig into their pockets for money.

As a nation we are famous for giving. Usually, when we give, we don't expect to get anything back. But we get something back just the same when we help protect children, and adults, too, against paralytic polio, and also aid those who may have become afflicted.

To perfect the Salk vaccine which provides that protection, cost the March of Dimes 17 years of research and $26,000,000. Central Missourians were among those who gave that money.

However, the dark shadow of polio has not vanished entirely. Before that happens two jobs must be done:

Get vaccinated. Everybody under 35 should be inoculated. About 45 million have been. About as many haven't.

Give to the March of Dimes. No vaccine can help the 80,000 Americans already crippled with polio. They need iron lungs, wheel chairs, braces, crutches, doctors, nurses and special care for years to come. That's the second big job for 1957. This one is up to every Sedalian, every Missourian, every American.

Polio will become a needless risk in proportion to the personal interest everyone takes in abolishing it.

By giving to the March of Dimes we will be getting more security against polio.

Be ready with your dimes and dollars where ever workers greet you during the present campaign which has its kick-off this week.

Thought for Today—

Hear the word of the Lord, ye children of Israel: for the Lord hath a controversy with the inhabitants of the land, because there is no truth, nor mercy, nor knowledge of God in the land.—Hosea 4:1.

The Word of God proves the truth of religion; the corruption of man, its necessity; government, its advantages.

Cannon Describes Fall of Missouri Vet

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — Policy-makers have been burning the midnight oil at the State Department trying to figure out how to spend the $400,000,000 President Eisenhower wants for the Middle East.

They have definitely decided, however, not to finance the Aswan Dam for Dictator Nasser. They figure this would guarantee Nasser's power for the next 10 years. Instead, they will offer Nasser economic aid, but only on a year-to-year basis.

The first big grant will probably go for clearing the Suez Canal. Uncle Sam expects to get stuck with most of the $40,000,000 bill for opening the Suez again to seagoing traffic.

The State Department also expects to take over Britain's annual $35,000,000 subsidy to Jordan. This is considered urgent to keep Jordan from being annexed by next-door, Communist-dominated Syria. Our policy-makers are particularly anxious to prevent two military airfields in Jordan, now used by the British, from falling into Red hands.

Present plan is to offer economic aid to all Arab states, including Syria. It is expected, however, that Syria will spurn U.S. aid and turn to Russia instead.

Congressman Cannon Fires
Venerable Congressman Clarence Cannon of Missouri got in a few last licks at his old Republican rival, Dewey Short, at the secret caucus of House Democrats.

Short was defeated by 36-year-old Charlie Brown, Democrat, last November. He had served 24 years in the House of Representatives, Cannon is now starting his 35th year.

"Mr. Chairman," boomed Cannon in the closed-door session, "Missouri now presents the eighth wonder of the world.

"This is a great occasion, Mr. Chairman," declared Cannon. "For the young man I am now presenting defeated a Rhodes scholar, a man who spoke four languages, an incomparable rabble rouser who was a great catch-as-catch-can.

"I am speaking, Mr. Chairman, of the accomplished, the unbridled, the irresponsible Dewey Short.

"Congressman Brown did the impossible. He defeated a man who had been here for 24 years, representing a district that the state legislature had gerrymandered for the Republicans.

"It was a remarkable achievement," continued Cannon, "in a year when the President exerted such vast influence that he carried the district by the wide margin of 30,000 votes."

Freshman Congressman Brown, unplanned by Cannon's bombastic introduction, rose to acknowledge the applause and laughter.

"Did I do all that?" he uttered. "Congress is indeed the pinnacle of a mountain, for one must climb hard and high to get here."

Here in London

Secretary of State John Foster Dulles is no exception to the human animal's capacity for self-delusion.

Dulles has been excoriated by Britain's conservatives for softness toward Nasser and denounced by laborites for being too militaristic. Despite that, Dulles considers himself a hero to the British people.

Questioning Dulles at a session of the House Foreign Affairs Committee, Rep. Wayne Hays (D., Ohio) recalled that on October 11 President

Guest Editorial—

MEMPHIS COMMERCIAL APPEAL: The Price of Stamps. It is time the price of stamps went up and restored the postoffice to self-support. Even though there have been partial adjustments in second-class and third-class rates, they fall short of paying the cost of these services, which are largely used by businessmen able to pay for other services they use. Ordinary stamps have 1932 prices, while the postoffice buys supplies and pays salaries in 1956.

The result is that the postoffice falls short by $1000 a minute of paying its bills—until it reaches into the till holding Federal tax collections.

The President wants to increase the postage fees. The Postmaster General wants to end the deficit. Opinion polls find the people favor self-supporting postal service. The House voted for increased levels last year in a play that let House members get on the sensible side of the record while the Senate smothered the bill in committee.

It was time for a change in postal rates last year. We have a new year and a new Congress now. Perhaps the change will get here in 1957.

Works For All People

One of the things which distinguishes President Eisenhower as a man and a leader is his imaginative concern for people. He demonstrated this quietly the other day in a decision not too widely noted.

The President originally had sent his personal plane to London to bring Indian Prime Minister Nehru to this country. Later he had him taken back across the Atlantic the same way.

Normally, the specially built plane would have been flown home empty of passengers. But Mr. Eisenhower ordered it diverted to Munich Germany to pick up a load of Hungarian refugees for transport to America.

Since this is the ship that carries the President almost every place he flies, its maintenance in perfect condition is a matter of the most vital security. But Ike waived security red tape and turned the craft into a "refugee bus."

History's verdict on Mr. Eisenhower as President is of course a long way off. But its verdict on him as a humanitarian is already in.

Foresee Farm Balance

At a time when the less hopeful aspects in our affairs seem to be getting most attention, it may be cheering to dwell a moment on the projected outlook for consumption of American farm produce.

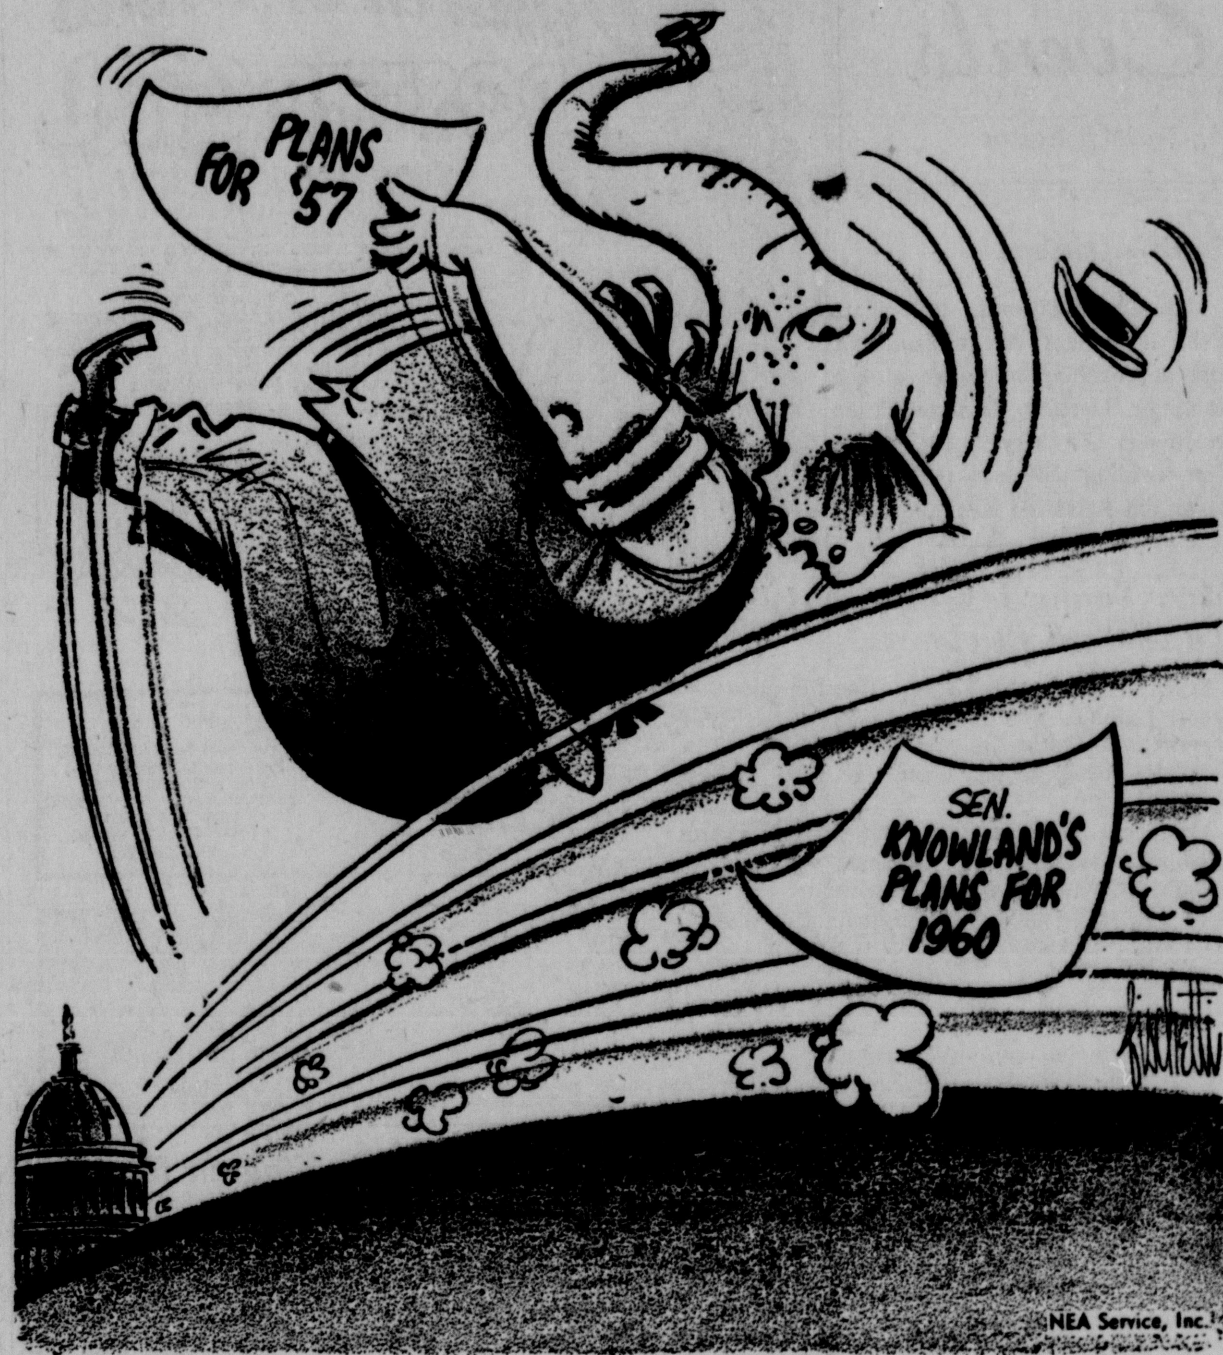

Specialists addressing a meeting of the National Reclamation Association said America's population is growing at a speed which perhaps by 1962 may bring consumption of farm products in balance with our tremendous output.

Should that time arrive as forecast, then the great problem of surpluses, one of the thorniest now plaguing government and farmers alike, might be solved. And in its solution we might see an end to fantastic expenditures designed either to curb production or buy up surpluses.

For farmers themselves the prospect would be most heartening. They would be freed of many chafing restrictions on their activities. And they would be relieved of the burden of looking to the government for the assurance of decent living standards.

Since our farmers are among our proudest and most independent folk, surely this is a day that must beckon to them as a time of real fulfillment.

The World Today—

More Arms Spending vs. Disarmament

By JAMES MARLOW

Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—On the very day the Eisenhower administration proposed a new disarmament plan to the United Nations, it prepared to ask Congress to boost this country's spending on armaments by about two billion dollars.

This was not a case of the United States speaking out of both sides of its mouth. It was coincidental and a commentary on the times we live in.

The United States and Russia have been sparring around in the U.N. on disarmament since 1946 and, for all practical purposes, are no nearer agreement than when they started.

In those intervening years, the two nations — lacking agreement and because they distrust each other profoundly — have been arming as hard as they can. They will continue to do so.

There is no reason to expect they will get together soon and decide to stop their weapons race.

Yesterday, while U.S. Chief Delegate Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. was unveiling this country's latest disarmament plan before the U.N., here in Washington President Eisenhower was getting ready to unveil his budget proposals for the fiscal year starting next July 1.

The budget is expected to call for spending of close to 72 billion dollars, or nearly three billions more than last year. Around two billions of that increase will be in armaments and weapons development. Military spending this year has been at the rate of about 35 billions.

Nothing shows better how much progress the United States and Russia have made in their ability to blow each other off the map than a look at what was being talked about in 1946, and now.

In that earlier year this country was proposing plans for controlling the atomic bomb — that was at a time when Russia didn't yet have the bomb — and curbing atomic development for war.

Since then, the United States has learned how to make even better atomic bombs. Russia has learned how to make them too.

And both went on to bigger things: the hydrogen bomb.

Now they are developing satellites that can circle the earth and missiles that can span continents and oceans. Lodge yesterday suggested among other things, international control of testing of all space missiles, including satellites.

The United States has always insisted on foolproof inspection measures to prevent cheating before it would agree on disarmament.

But the Russians have resisted an inspection plan that would let outsiders — if only U.N. observers — prow around Russia, either on the ground or in the sky.

Dr. Jordan Says—

Prostate Gland Treatment Necessitates Surgery

By Edwin P. Jordan, M. D.

Mr. H. E. writes that he is having trouble with his prostate gland and asks for some information on cause and treatment. He does not say, however, what kind of trouble he is having, or give any other details, so that one cannot tell whether he is talking about infection, enlargement or some other disorder.

The prostate is a sex gland lying near the outlet of the urinary bladder. The three principal things which can go wrong with the prostate are infection with germs, simple enlargement and cancer.

Infection is today treated in most cases with success by the use of substances known as antibiotics which attack germs, by massage and by other means. I shall not discuss this or cancer of the gland at the present time.

In some men, as they grow older, the tissues of the prostate gland become enlarged for reasons which are still not entirely clear but must be associated somehow with the aging process. If this enlargement goes far enough it is likely to cause symptoms and complications.

The most common symptom of such enlargement is frequent urination and if this occurs at night it will often cause an annoying disturbance in sleep. Another common early symptom of prostatic enlargement is delay or difficulty in beginning urination. Such symptoms as these start gradually but tend to get slowly worse.

As time goes on the bladder is never completely emptied and its wall or lining becomes thickened. The desire to urinate comes more and more frequently.

The amount of pain, irritation and local discomfort caused by enlargement of the prostate varies from man to man. There is also some danger of the development of kidney trouble because of the back pressure from the urine held in the bladder.

Sometimes — often without apparent warning — a man with an enlarged prostate may suddenly find that he is not able to urinate at all. Under such circumstances the bladder must be drained through a tube, called a catheter, which is passed into the bladder (or by some other method). This brings only temporary relief.

Treatment of prostate enlargement is usually surgical. Several operations are available and the choice of which procedure to use depends on the individual circumstances and the judgment of the surgeon.

The hope is that a method can be discovered to prevent prostate enlargement or to treat it with hormones or drugs. Some studies along these lines have been made, but as yet there is no successful method of preventing, or a non-surgical means of treating, this type of difficulty.

IN THE HOSPITAL the woman had to wake up early and seemed to form a habit of it. Now that she is home again she finds herself waking up at 5:30 every morning, so one morning recently she woke up and went downstairs to get herself a glass of milk. She was sitting there in the kitchen, drinking the milk, when suddenly her little grandson stuck his head in the door.

"What are you doing here?" he asked.

"Well," she queried, "what are you doing here?"

"Is it night or morning?" he asked.

"It is still night," she told him. "We must go back to bed."

"We got up too early," he said.

"I guess we did," she agreed, "but they say the early bird catches the worm."

"I don't have any worms," he informed her. "My mother just gave me a round of worm pills."

WELL, IT WASN'T intentional, but a businessman in town who is somewhat of a practical joker had the tables turned on him recently and he was furious about it.

His wife was going to take her young daughter to a meeting at one of the churches and went down in the basement, where he was putting around doing something as he likes to do, to tell him she was going and would be back in a short time. She went back up the basement steps and as she did she automatically shut the basement door and locked it. She was gone about 15 minutes and when she returned she went to the door and found it locked. Then she went on into the living room and sat down thinking he had come on up out of the basement, locked the door and went on upstairs to take a bath.

Then she heard a lot of noise, the dog began to bark and sniff at the basement door, and there was some banging against the door. She went to the kitchen, opened the door and there stood

Hennings In Important Spot—

His Rules Committee May Act On Amending Rule 22

By Maurice G. Boehl
Of Our Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON — Getting the chairmanship of the powerful Senate Rules and Administration Committee means that Senator Thomas C. Hennings, Jr., will be right in the middle of the filibuster controversy, if continued as expected.

An attempt to limit the right of unlimited debate, provided by Section 22 of the Senate Rules, will now come as an amendment. Such a proposal would come before Hennings' Committee.

Few know the wide scope of this Committee, called the financial watchdog of the Senate. All contracts by Senate Committees must be approved by Hennings' group. All travel vouchers and expenses must have his signature.

Under the Rules function, the Committee holds hearings on all matters pertaining to the national elections. This includes corrupt practices and campaign expenditures, on which Hennings has done considerable research. A study on campaign expenditures is now ready for the Committee. The Committee also considers regulations on the Presidential succession. Senator Hennings has already announced the committee will study possible legislation to cover Presidential disability as a part of an overall survey of the election laws.

Among the other duties of the Committee is acceptance of purchases of fine arts or statuary for the Senate such as the Taft Memorial. These Senators approve rules for admission to the Senate Gallery; operation of the Senate restaurant; printing of the Congressional Record; administration of the Library of Congress and Smithsonian Institution.

Hennings was actually third in line for chairmanship of the Committee. Senator Theodore Green of Rhode Island had top seniority but took the Foreign Relations Committee. Senator Carl Hayden of Arizona also ranked the Missouri Democrat but was already chairman of the Appropriations Committee.

The Mature Parent—

If We Radiate Hostility, Our Children Will, Too

By Mrs. Muriel Lawrence

Out in the yard Tom's mother was installing his little brother in the playpen when Tom ran off with the younger child's ball. She gave chase. Catching Tom, she grabbed back the ball, crying, "Why are you such a pest? You leave Bryan's things alone!"

Fury gathered in Tom's face. Glaring at his mother, he jerked free. Then, he pushed the ball from under her arm and ran into the house, yelling, "You dopey old dope — dopey, dope, dope..."

Shaken, his mother gave Bryan back his ball, thinking, "Oh, what shall I do? That boy hates me whenever I refuse him what he wants. But I can't always give him what he wants. Oh, what can I do?"

She was absolutely blind to the real cause of Tom's rage. He did not hate her for removing a ball from him, but for removing her good will from him.

Dr. Erich Fromm has made this point in the most important paragraph on child training that I know. He writes:

"Frustration in itself does not arouse hostility in the child. It is the thwarting of his expansiveness, the breaking of his attempt to assert himself, the hostility radiating from parents — in short, the atmosphere of suppression which creates in the child the feeling of powerlessness — and the hostility springing from it."

Jesus voiced the same truth by warning us that it is "the spirit which quickeneth" — and that the flesh of word or action "profiteth nothing." He knew that you can her husband in a terrible mood.

"What you doing there?" she asked in a surprised tone.

"What do you think?" came his irritated reply. "You locked me down here."

She tried to explain — she tried to apologize — but nothing she said could ease the situation. Nothing was hurt but his pride, and for a couple of days he had his own little private cold war.

THE CONVERSATION WAS on mimeographing and a woman recalled how hard she and another girl had worked back in 1951 to get a lot of mimeographing work done.

Thinking It Over

By Robert L. Dieffenbacher, D.D.

Fear causes more frustration than one might suppose. The important matter for consideration is not WHAT we fear, but THAT we fear. Many people fear a mouse more than they do an elephant.

The only way to overcome our frustrating fears is to bring them out into the open where we can look at them as we look at a prospective purchase. If we look them over inside and outside, test them, pull them and pinch them in the presence of a friend we can see how harmless they are.

The best friend to stand at our side as we view our fears is God. "Though I walk through the valley of the shadow of death, I will fear no evil, for thou art with me," said the Psalmist and he was talking about imagined as well as real fears.

Famed Dramatic School Makes Stars From Unknowns

By DICK KLEINER
NEA Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK (NEA)—The Actors' Studio, perhaps because of its long and famous list of members, gets more publicity than any other drama school. The only trouble is, according to the people who run it, most of the stories circulated about the school are wrong.

In the first place, it isn't a school, as such. It's a place where professional actors can go to practice. They get criticism, mostly from fellow members, but there are no classes, no lessons, no set exercises.

And there are no students. The people who belong — there are about 125 of them — are members. They pay no fees of any sort; all funds come from voluntary contributions. To belong, an actor has to go through a series of auditions, before hypercritical judges. In its eight years of existence, it has auditioned between 1,200 and 1,500 aspirants a year. The first year, 50 were admitted. Since then, only 10 to 15.

The whole thing started back in 1947. Broadway producer Cheryl Crawford and director Elia Kazan were having lunch.

"Kazan and I both felt lucky," Miss Crawford says. "We were both associated with hits. So we started talking about actors and the fact that they had no place to practice. If they were in a hit, they were stuck with the same part; if they were in a flop, they were soon out on the street. But they never had a chance to try new things any more."

So the two of them roughed up the idea for the Actors' Studio over the luncheon table. Famed drama coach Lee Strasberg joined, and the three of them still run the Studio. That first year, they interviewed around 700 actors and picked 50.

In that first group were people

Five dollars was donated to the March of Dimes. Mrs. Schupp announced the Cooper County Teacher's banquet will be held Jan. 21. The PTA members will serve. The fifth and sixth grades won the attendance prize.

Fred Hintz Shows Jamaican Pictures

Fred Hintz, missionary recruit to the island of Jamaica, British West Indies, will speak and show pictures of the work in Jamaica at the La Monte Christian Church on Wednesday evening, Jan. 16th. The meeting will begin at 7:30. Mr. Hintz was formerly a member of the LaMonte Church and spent his early life in the community. He and his wife and two children expect to make the trip to Jamaica some time in 1957. The public is welcome to hear him.

VISITOR: Marilyn Monroe, here climbing the Actors' Studio steps, is one of the few non-members allowed at sessions.

like Marlon Brando, Montgomery Clift, Tom Ewell, John Forsythe, Julie Harris, Kim Hunter, Karl Malden, E. G. Marshall, Margaret Phillips, Maureen Stapleton, Kim Stanley, Jo Van Fleet, Eli Wallach, Ray Walston and David Wayne. They were off on the right foot.

The building they bought a year or so later is now valued at $150,000. It's a non-profit organization which runs benefits and campaigns for gifts to finance its operations.

Every Monday night is preliminary audition night at the Studio. Anyone can audition, as often as he likes. There is, however, a waiting list for several months. The preliminary board is made up of a few members who just happen to be there. They sit from 7 p.m. to 1 a.m. every Monday, listening to a different actor every five minutes.

The actor can read anything he chooses. He's stopped, though, precisely after five minutes. If he passes this preliminary board, the actor must then audition again before the final board, consisting of Kazan, Strasberg and Miss Crawford. Only a very few get through this second board.

Studio members defend this double-audition practice. Carroll Baker, the new star of "Baby Doll" who flunked her first audition, thinks it's a good idea. But Joanne Woodward, a fine actress who flunked once and never tried Brando's own success, and that of Paul Newman and James Dean, two other actors from the Studio with basically the same technique, is responsible for the widely-held public notion that the Studio is breeding a stageful of mumbblers.

"But it's just that Brando and Dean are successes," Miss Baker says. "And they're copied because they're successful. When I was at Warner Brothers, we had a school on the lot. All the boys were imitating Dean."

"The proof of the pudding is in our membership," says Miss Crawford. "Look at people like Eva Marie Saint and David Wayne and Tom Ewell—could you call them mumbblers?"

Once an actor is a Studio member, he's a member for life. Of the 125 members, there are many who are unsuccessful professionally, leading Miss Baker and others to say that "The Actors' Studio isn't magic."

But the success of many of the members, who joined when unknowns, leads others to believe that it may not be magic, but the system of careful auditions and organized practice seems to be a pretty good one for developing fine new actors.

Iowans Muzzle 'Stilt,' End String 39-37

Cyclones Hold Him To 17 Points, Win On Mesker Basket

By ED CORRIGAN
The Associated Press

Wilt the Stilt?
Why, shucks, he's just another big bloke who can be stopped with no particular trouble.

Yes, he's the same Wilt Chamberlain who had been scoring at a 32-point-a-game clip. But ask Iowa State. The Cyclones will just point to their two tussles with The Stilt and Kansas. A month ago they held him to 12 points and lost a 58-37 thriller.

Last night, they held him to 17 points and won 39-37 when Don Medsker connected with a 20-foot-er just before the game ended. Chamberlain didn't get his first basket until the start of the second half.

So Kansas, the No. 1 team in The Associated Press poll, went down to its first defeat of the season after winning 12.

The result left only one team in the top 20—North Carolina—undefeated. The Tar Heels meet an old nemesis, North Carolina State, tonight.

Kansas wasn't the only casualty among the bluebloods. Kentucky, No. 4, and Vanderbilt, No. 10, also met with disaster. Tulane set up a brilliant zone defense to outlast Kentucky 68-60, and Mississippi State edged Vanderbilt 63-62.

Only Illinois was able to uphold the prestige of the top 10. The eighth-ranked Illini crushed Indiana 112-91.

Michigan, Purdue and Ohio State each scored their third Big Ten victories. The Wolverines overpowered winless Wisconsin 71-62, and Purdue conquered Northwestern 77-57. League-leading Ohio State beat Minnesota, 85-73 with Frank Howard scoring 31 points.

West Virginia, the Southern Conference leader, won its fifth straight loop game, whipping Mississippi 81-72, with Hot Rod Hundley dropping in six foul shots in the last four minutes.

Yale coasted to an 84-53 Ivy League triumph over Brown. Loyola of Chicago won its 10th game of the season, a 69-50 decision over Washington of St. Louis; Kansas State captured its first Big Seven game, dumping Missouri 59-55; Pitt downed Syracuse 76-64; Maryland halted South Carolina 66-59 in an Atlantic Coast Conference game; and Bradley maintained its hold on the Missouri Valley lead by vanquishing Detroit 89-76.

Sugar Hart Defeats Gene Johns on TKO In Welterweight Bout

NEW YORK (AP)—Sugar Hart's manager believes his knockout-minded welterweight prospect will be ready for a title shot this fall but he is in no hurry to prove the points.

The tall, slender power-punching Philadelphia looked like the money in the bank again last night when he came from behind to flatten able, aggressive Gene Johns of New York in 1:14 of the sixth round of the exciting television fight at St. Nicholas Arena.

Trailering on the scorecards of the three officials after five rounds (3-1, 3-1, 3-2) Hart opened up and quickly dropped his rival three times in the sixth to win on a technical knockout. Referee Al Berli halted the scrap under New York's three-knockdowns-in-one-round-and-your-out rule. Johns, 21, was in no condition to continue anyway.

It was Hart's 11th straight victory, his 19th win against one defeat, and his 17th triumph via the kayo route. Each weighed 145½.

"We're in no hurry," said manager Marty Stein. "Sugar will be 21 on Feb. 22. He's got plenty of time on his side."

Krebs Gathers All-America Spot Backing

DALLAS, (AP)—An All-America boom for Jim Krebs gathers momentum as the tall young man from Missouri leads Southern Methodist toward a third straight Southwest Conference basketball championship.

Krebs, 6 feet 8, does everything well, coach Doc Hayes declares. "He is as fine an all-around basketball player at center as I have seen," the coach said.

Krebs hasn't met Wilt (The Stilt) Chamberlain of Kansas or Charlie Tyra of Louisville, something that may be fixed, however, in the NCAA playoffs this year, especially Chamberlain because Kansas appears a cinch to be in the regional playoffs scheduled for Southern Methodist's new 8,000-seat coliseum. And SMU probably will be there if it wins its conference title, which the nationally fourth ranked Methodist should do. Right now SMU has a season record of 13-1 and is the only undefeated team in the conference race.

Krebs, who has scored 344 points in 14 games for an average of 24.6, and has averaged 12.3 rebounds per contest, holds one Southwest Conference record. He made 50 points in one game last year.

"Krebs is definitely All-American," says Hayes. "He learned more from playing than from our coaching because he is a man of keen intellect."

Glen Rose, coach of Arkansas, calls the giant from Webster Groves, Mo., "the best center the Southwest Conference ever had." Buster Brannon, coach of Texas Christian, says "you can't guard him; you have to give him his shots."

Everybody uses a zone defense against Krebs but can't stop him with it because he's an adept outside shooter as well as a master of the hook under the basket.

Some Attendance!
DENTON, Tex. (AP)—Berk Kaufhold, a junior at North Texas State College here, was given the job of promoting attendance at the college's radio club.

He made numerous telephone calls and personal contacts, and the result was a large crowd. But when club officers sought Kaufhold to congratulate him, they found he slept through the meeting.

Budweisers Beat Windsor Squad, 90-59

A streamlined Budweiser Beer cage squad, decked with many former high school stars of Sedalia, continued its game-winning rampage last Saturday night when they visited Windsor and battered an International Shoe Co. team there, 90-59.

The Sedalians toyed with the hosts in the first half and pulled to a 33-26 lead by midway. But the second half developed as a show of the Budweisers' strength when they led the scoring 57-33 to hold a 31-point margin as the game ended.

Big Bill Holst tallied 23 points in leading the Budweisers, but was outscored by Dial of Windsor who pulled 28. Hughes of Sedalia and Bilburch of the Internationals marked up 14 apiece.

Swartz and Mitchell were the officials.

TONIGHT'S WRESTLING CARD
In the Sedalia Armory—8:15
MAIN EVENT
Mighty Atlas, 225, Hollywood, vs. Joe Dusek, 233, Omaha. Best two out of three falls, or a 60-minute time limit.

SEMI-WINDUP
Johann Koenig, 220, Sognon, Hungary, vs. Blackjack Dillon, 235, Chattanooga, Tenn. Best two out of three falls, or a 45-minute time limit.

ADDED ATTRACTION
Rip Hawk, 222, Toledo, Ohio, vs. Larry (Elvis Presley) Hamilton, 232, St. Joseph, Mo. One fall, or a 30-minute time limit.

When it comes to fulfilling the demand of the fans somebody to knock the chip off Mighty Atlas' shoulder the man who stands the best chance of getting the job done is Omaha's rowdy Joe Dusek.

And Joe Dusek will come to Sedalia's Armory tonight with that objective in view.

Atlas' boastful attitude has irritated the Sedalia area fans, especially after the Hollywood strong man used his vicious full nelson to pummel popular Jim Dobie here several weeks ago.

Joe is also aware that his Sedalia prestige, sagging somewhat after his numerous roughing matches, will be bolstered in the eyes of the Armory fans if he becomes the first heavyweight this season to knock Atlas out of the unbeaten ranks.

Johann Koenig, boomed as the most promising new star to hit the nation's heavyweight ranks in many a moon, will make his Sedalia debut in a blistering semi-windup against Tennessee's Blackjack Dillon tonight. The Hungarian-born Koenig has the most perfectly developed physique of any athlete to hit the Middle West in recent months, including the Hollywood strong man—Atlas.

A former AAU weight-lifting champion and two-time Middle Atlantic states amateur wrestling champion, Koenig is expected to rapidly forge to the front in the state title scramble. Koenig fled Hungary with his parents under Nazi oppression to Ireland. They finally reached their coveted goal—the United States—shortly after the close of World War II. Johann is now a proud U. S. citizen and resides in New York but he prefers to use his birthplace, Sognon, Hungary, as his "hometown."

"Hungary will never rest until it throws out Communism just like it did Hitler," Johann commented. The added attraction will also introduce another top-flight heavy- Rip Hawk of Toledo, Ohio. Hawk's initial encounter in the Armory will be against Larry (Elvis Presley) Hamilton. "Actually, this could be a main event in itself," the matchmaker commented. "Hawk is a tough customer in the ring and Larry is a mighty rugged man, too. Their pair-off will be a crowd pleaser."

Seven current or past Michigan State athletes took part in the '56 Olympic games in Melbourne.

Indians and Bulldogs Win MIAA Cage Tilt

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The Cape Girardeau Indians and Kirksville Bulldogs won MIAA basketball games last night on their home courts.

Kirksville whipped the Springfield Bears 77-57 for its second league victory. Ahead all the way, the Bulldogs had a 43-28 half-time edge. Bill Ausmus of Kirksville and Don Sonnenberg of Springfield each made 19 points.

Cape opened its league season by trouncing the Warrensburg Mules 70-43. Mel McFarland scored 18 points for Cape, and Dick Schromm led Warrensburg with 12.

The Mules are 1-1 in the conference and 3-12 for the season. The Indians stand 6 to 5 for the season.

Mighty Atlas In Mat Bout With Dusek

North Carolina, although impressive winner of three games, lost ground during the past week in its effort to overtake powerful Kansas as the No. 1 team in the Associated Press college basketball poll.

The Kansans racked up 923 points—95 better than second-place North Carolina. However, after the votes were counted, Iowa State snapped Kansas' 12-game unbeaten streak 39-37.

With points awarded on a basis of 10 for a first-place vote, 9 for second, etc., North Carolina received a total of 828 for games through Jan. 12. Last week the Tar Heels trailed Kansas by 48 points.

Of the 94 first-place votes cast by the nation's sports writers and broadcasters, Kansas collected 49, North Carolina 30.

The makeup of the first 10 teams in the poll was unchanged although shaken up a bit by post-holiday developments.

Ma Kettle Has New Pa For Next Film

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD (U) — Ma Kettle has a new Pa.

He's Parker Fennelly, veteran stage, radio and TV actor who has taken over as Marjorie Main's spouse in the latest of the series, "Ma and Pa Kettle at McDonald's Farm."

He replaces crickety Percy Kilbride, who voluntarily retired two Kettles ago. Another of the series was then made with Arthur Hume in the male lead, but not as Pa.

"I don't know how they happened to choose me," said Fennelly, famed as Titus Moody ("Howdy, Bub") in the late Fred Allen's Alley. "I don't resemble Percy at all."

But Fennelly is noted for his portrayal of rural characters, though they have generally been of a New England variety rather than Western like the Kettles. The studio saw him as Arthur Train's Mr. Tutt in a Robert Montgomery TV show. That spawned the idea that he could be Pa.

"But I told them if they wanted to see something more like Kettle," he remarked, "they should see a film I did a year ago for the Robert Young show, 'Father Knows Best.' I played a farmer in that one, the only film I had ever made in Hollywood."

The film confirmed the studio's judgment and Fennelly was signed. Now he's not so sure he should have. He came to lunch attired in Pa's usual tatters with a rope for a belt ("very high-class wardrobe.") And he told of spending the morning swinging from a wire for a stunt in which he falls into Ma's arms.

"I didn't read the script before I signed," he commented. "They didn't tell me anything about this."

But though he speaks with Down East caution, he appears to be having a good time. He was a small-town Maine boy who couldn't resist the lure of the footlights. He went to drama school in Boston and started on the stage in 1915.

After serving in the Army after the first World War, he returned to acting and admits that he had plenty of lean times. But with the rise of radio he found steady employment to fill out the times between plays.

Women's Association Has All Day Meeting

The Women's Association, Green Ridge Presbyterian Church, held its first meeting of the new year Jan. 10 all day at the church.

An executive meeting was held at 11 a.m. with Mrs. Earl Hinken presiding. There was a general discussion of plans for the coming year's work and the budget for 1957 was outlined.

A contributive dinner was served at noon by the Miriam Circle.

At two o'clock, Mrs. Hinken called the meeting to order and opened with the hymn, "God the Father" repeated in unison.

The theme for the Association programs for 1957 is "Christ's Way for Every Day." "Jesus' Teachings on Citizenship" will be the Bible study for the four circles the first six months of the year. "United Nations and Us" will be used for programs the last half of the year. The main things on the agenda was a discussion of the budget for 1957, which was accepted. Among the many things included in the budget was $30 toward sending young people to Youth Camp, expenses were also allowed for a delegate to Synodical. One hundred dollars was allowed toward improving the church and the same amount was also allowed for improvement on the Manse. Four hundred dollars for the general budget of the church and $200 to the Board of Missions.

Mrs. Hinken was also in charge of the prayer service for missionaries and ministers at work on the mission field.

Sacred Heart News— Cheer Leaders Get Five New Megaphones

By Phyllis Aggeler

Something new has been added in the athletic department recently. The "something new" was the cheerleaders' five new megaphones. They are a bright red with the letters "S.H.H.S." printed in white. The head cheerleader's megaphone is about 24 inches long and has "Sacred Heart" written out on it. The other four are smaller—18 inches in length.

Gen. Bound History Book In Indian Skin

DENVER (AP)—A book titled "History of Christianity" in the library of the Iliff School of Theology is bound in the skin of an Indian, killed more than 200 years ago in combat with a Virginia general.

An inscription on the inside cover, dated Sept. 16, 1893, reads: "This book was published 150 years ago and is covered with the skin of an Indian who was killed after a desperate struggle, by General Morgan, proprietor of Morgantown, West Virginia, and presented to my father, William Barnes, M.D., by the hand of General Morgan himself."

The volume was donated to the school by the Rev. R. M. Barnes, a Methodist minister who came to Colorado in pioneer days and was a chaplain at the state prison in Canon City.

The late Horace M. Barnes, son of the minister, gave a history of the book when he visited Denver many years ago.

This was the story: The book was part of the private library of Gen. Daniel Morgan, a Virginian, officer of the Revolution and Indian fighter.

Indians, fearful of fighting Morgan directly, plotted to raid his home when it was unguarded. An Algonquin warrior killed his beautiful young wife and infant daughter.

Morgan trailed the killer for three years. But when he met the warrior unexpectedly, Morgan was unarmed. The Indian carried a tomahawk and gun.

Morgan was shot first in the neck but managed to close in and wrested the tomahawk from the Indian and killed him with it.

The enraged general ordered the skin stripped from the Indian and tanned. Later the gruesome trophy was fashioned into a cover for a sacred Latin book titled "Institutionum Historiae Christianae Compendium" ("History of Christianity").

Before his death in 1802, Morgan bequeathed the book to a relative and intimate friend, Dr. William Barnes, a physician at Morgantown in what was then western Virginia. He passed it on to his son, the Rev. R. M. Barnes.

The book is preserved in a glass cabinet at the theology school on the University of Denver campus.

Real Patch Quilt
FT. JACKSON, S. C. (AP)—Mrs. Daisy Chapman, seamstress with a cleaners' concession at this Army infantry training post, has done a quilt with so many patches she has lost count.

Instead of the usual squares of cloth, she has used various U. S. Army insignia patches. Most, she says, were given her by Army personnel when they found she was working on such a quilt.

Although Bogart Growled, He Liked Having People Around

Editor's Note — In nearly a dozen years of reporting the Hollywood scene, columnist Bob Thomas developed a close friendship with Humphrey Bogart and his wife Lauren Bacall. Thus he is able to write feelingly and knowledgeably of the lusty actor whose life made Hollywood a brighter place and whose death saddened many. Following is the first of three articles on the fabulous Bogie.

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Although he growled at them and needed them mercifully, Humphrey Bogart liked people.
His widow, Lauren Bacall, once remarked: "Bogie is fanatically independent, yet he can't stand being alone."
He always liked to have his friends around him, and that was his only pleasure in his last days.

Up until he fell into a coma Sunday morning, he observed a daily ritual — the Bogart cocktail hour.
Knowing how much he loved company, his wife allowed him to come downstairs from his sickroom and receive his friends from 5 to 7 p.m. She cautioned them to stay only 15 minutes, since too much conversation tired him.

"He just likes to sit there and be with his friends," she explained. "He wants to hear the latest gossip. Sometimes he doesn't even feel like entering into the conversation. But he likes to have people there."

Five days before he died of cancer, I paid a call at the Bogart cocktail hour. David Niven, still in makeup from a TV Western, arrived at the same time. Mrs. Bogart was in front of the sedate Holmby Hills manse, showing her Mercedes Benz to prospective buyers.

We found Bogart seated in the den next to a roaring fire. He looked better than I expected. He was thin, but he had always been fairly gaunt. He seemed alert and interested, though he didn't speak a great deal. When he did talk, his voice was softer, but still had the old Bogart crackle.

Niven gave him a letter from Douglas Fairbanks Jr. which he read with interest. We engaged in small talk and greeted 4-year-old Leslie, a doll in long pants and an Audrey Hepburn haircut.

Only once did Bogart appear to be his oldtime irritable self. That was when I mentioned about a news story a week before that had pictured him near death.

"Once a blankety newspaperman, always a blankety newspaperman!" he snapped, and he bawled me out for attempting anything that appeared to be an interview.

On more pleasant subjects, he said he had been reading "Compulsion," the novel about the Leopold-Loeb murder case and found it "a very good job." I mentioned that it was the book Marie McDonald was reportedly reading before the alleged kidnapping.

This piqued his interest and he wanted to know all about the McDonald affair. He offered his own theory of the case, drawn from his long experience in crime pictures.

Otherwise, it was like many a conversation in the Bogart den, a large, comfortable place filled with photos and mementoes of the Bogarts and their friends. The only difference: he was drinking fairly gaunt. He seemed alert and

Variety Store Robbed 10 Times in 20 Years

BOSTON (AP)—For the 10th time in 20 years, John L. Lasker's variety store in the south end was robbed last night. Two men, each with a hand in their pockets as though carrying guns, stole $15 from the 58-year-old Lasker and $15 from a male customer. It was the second robbery at Lasker's variety store in four days.

Temperature Too Low; Dancers Use Records

SAULT STE. MARIE, Mich. (AP)—Some 100 couples who attended a street dance in a supermarket parking lot last night had to agree it was real "cool" — in fact it was the coldest. The dancers had to settle for recorded music — it was a little cold for musicians. The temperature stood at 13 degrees below zero.

scotch-and-water: a wheelchair nearby gave testimony to his illness.

Bogart was reluctant to let his visitors go, but his wife insisted. Outside, she explained his blow-up: "He just doesn't like to discuss his illness. It bores him. He never was ill before in his life, and he can't get used to being cooped up in this house. That's why seeing his friends is such a tonic."

She said he was getting better all the time, "but it's slow." Nothing she said indicated the fight was hopeless, nor did he indicate he expected anything but recovery. Friends have told me there existed between the pair an unspoken hope that Bogie would beat the rap. To Hollywood's loss, he couldn't.

Tomorrow: Bogart and Bacall, an unusual love story.

Red Skelton Goes Before Camera Again

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Red Skelton, strengthened by 20,000 letters and telegrams, tonight plays a real-life version of "Laugh, Clown, Laugh."

His television program over CBS-TV will be his first live show since learning that his son Richard, 9, is critically ill with leukemia. Doctors have said the boy's life expectancy is five months to a year.

A previously filmed show was substituted last week, when the comedian was too overcome with grief to go on.

Red, visibly overwhelmed by the kindness of fans who had expressed sorrow, said he will personally answer every communication.

"People are wonderful," he said at his first rehearsal yesterday. "I can't thank them enough for all they have done to comfort Richard's mother and me."

"Faith in God is our only hope. At first we felt useless — just another mother and father asking for help and then came the kindness of friends."

The comedian, near collapse for a week after the disclosure of the blood cell malady, said he and his wife Georgia are past the initial shock.

The boy has returned home from UCLA Medical Center, and knows he is seriously ill with leukemia, Skelton said. When a television news commentator first broke the story, one of the listeners was young Richard.

"Perhaps it is better that he does know," said Red. "Now he will cooperate better with the doctors. We are not giving up hope."

Physician Denies Quintuplets Report Made by Housewife

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP)—A Mississippi physician has denied he told a housewife that she would give birth to quintuplets.

Mrs. C. Lester Blaylock of Drew, Miss., was quoted by the Memphis Press-Scimitar in a copyrighted story yesterday as saying her doctor predicted she would have quintuplets, possibly this week.

But Dr. J. F. Lucas of Greenwood, Miss., said:

"I regret very much the unauthorized use of my name in sensational newspaper stories with reference to an alleged expected multiple birth."

"As a doctor, I do not feel free to discuss the matter except to say that I have not made any prediction about any multiple birth."

Mrs. Blaylock, 33, reportedly left her home yesterday for Baptist Hospital here, accompanied by her husband, a 46-year-old paper mill employee. She couldn't be reached for comment.

The hospital said it knew nothing of the case and said it would have to make advance and complicated arrangements if quintuplets were expected.

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Some people might feel differently but the latest Anthracite Institute bulletin issued here has the following headline: "December disappointingly warm."

Four-Year-Old Detroit Case Nearly Solved

DETROIT (AP)—The signed statement of a 38-year-old bachelor was studied by police today in what they believe may be the climax of Detroit's most intensive manhunt.

Detective Lt. Glenn Collier said Philip J. Singer signed a formal statement admitting in detail the Jan. 2, 1953, slaying of 18-year-old Joann Gillespie.

The discovery of the girl's body, raped and beaten, in an alley near her home electrified Detroit at the time and has baffled police ever since.

More than 6,000 persons had been questioned in the crime, among them Singer, and then released.

Several persons have admitted to the crime, but none of their stories has held up under investigation. In Singer's case, Chief Assistant Prosecutor Ralph Garber said:

"I won't go out on a limb and

Collier did not say what the details were.

Twice around the world and still like new!

Ford is the first and only car ever to travel 50,000 miles in less than 20 days—at an average speed of over 108 mph! That's more mileage than most people put on their cars at normal speeds in five years!

It happened on the Bonneville Salt Flats in Utah. Two '57 Fords—Ford-prepared, preproduction models, identical in every respect with the cars now offered by your Ford Dealer—proved their mettle in the toughest test of automotive stamina ever attempted! They were driven 50,000 miles—the equivalent of almost twice around the world. One Ford averaged over 108 mph—the other, 107 mph. And at the end of almost 20 days of continuous driving (with stops only for pit service) both Fords were still going strong! This is a true test of the ruggedness built into Ford's new Thunderbird deep-block V-8 engines . . . the matching stamina of the revolutionary new "Inner Ford." This is a reason—one of many—why your low-priced car dollars can't buy finer than Ford for '57.
